THE TRUSTEES' MEETING

Consider the Question of Fixing East Cypress Street

The regular meeting of the Board of Trustees was held on Thursday evening, and Mr. D. I. Nofsinger and A. P. Hart, from East Cypress, appeared before the Board and went quite thoroughly into the question of grading East Cypress street and making some change in the old flue that carries off the storm water near the Neimeyer home. The meeting developed into somewhat of an informal discussion, and it was decided that the City Engineer should make a thorough inspection of the matter and make some recommendation as to the best method of providing for the storm water. The difficulty seems to be that the old wash was filled in several years ago and a number of houses have been built on this filled in ground. As the water comes down from the mountain it washes this filled in ground very badly, and the problem is to find some way of diverting the water from its original course and protecting this property.

Mr. Hart also made the statement that a couple of old poles were standing near his place and that they were not only unsightly but in a dangerous condition, and that the poles were supposed to belong to the Sunset Telephone Company, and requested that some action be taken to have them removed. This matter was referred to the Street Superintendent, with instructions to have the poles removed at once.

WHAT DO YOU DO?

While actual statistics show that only one and one-half per cent of automobile accidents occur at railway crossings, nevertheless this one and one-half per cent is so large that automobile associations are co-operating with the railroads to minimize the number and bring about a greater exercise of care on the part of pedestrians and drivers of motor vehicles. In making an effort to ascertain wherein the responsibility for crossing accidents might rest, some observations were recently made by one of the railroads with offices in San Francisco, and the statement of the results, involving 16,522 motor vehicles, 4,246 teams and 4,526 pedestrians, shows that 69 per cent of the drivers of motor vehicles took no precautions whatever to prevent being struck at crossings, 21 per cent passing at a high rate of speed.

It is pointed out by railway officials that the millions necessary for added grade protection would levy an extra toll on the rates paid by shippers and passengers. There would be less necessity for this if more precautions were taken by pedestrians and drivers at the crossings.

The observations were made in San Francisco, Lodi, Sacramento, Stockton and Oakland. The total of the pedestrians and drivers of teams and motor driven vehicles who crossed during the period of observation was 25,296. Of this number 35 stopped and looked in both directions before crossing; 8,950 kept moving and looked in both directions; 1,694 kept moving and looked in one way only, and 14617 kept moving and looked straight ahead.

A CHEAP GARBAGE FURNACE.

Sometimes one has need of a garbage furnace for the purpose of burning up refuse. A cheap one may be made in the following manner: Procure two barrels of different sizes, so that one will go inside of the other and leave about six inches of space between the two barrels. Make a concrete mixture of one part cement, two parts of sand and about four parts of crushed stone or gravel, and pour into the space between the two barrels. Make an opening through which a metal ash box can be inserted, over which an iron door can be hung. A little ingenuity will enable one to build a furnace that will not only be lasting, but economical.

Be Honest at least With Yourself

People Who Know Better Are Wilfully Misleading You And Circulating False Statements. Will You Let Them Use You as their Monkey

They Would Use You So They Might Vent Their Petty Spite. They Know That It Is For The Best Interest of Tropico to Vote for the Bonds Yet Certain People Opposed To All Progress Would Defeat The Bond Issue. These People Would Be Satisfied With Tallow Candles For Lights. Would You?

Unfortunately for the progress and advancement of the world there is an inherent trait in mortal mind that opposes everything that tends to improve prevalent conditions.

Many men and women, good neighbors, well meaning, likeable and sociable, object on general principles to anything that is a change. In plain words, they have gotten into a rut and don't know it. You know there is a saying that is often referred to that a rolling stone gathers no moss. Probably that is so. But there is no doubt that the stone that never rolls or turns gathers a lot of moss; in fact, gets to be dyed-in-the-wool mossbacks. They are to be found in every community. Many of these mossbacks are after their fashion good citizens. They as a rule live quiet, orderly lives; they go to church—some of 'em. They never do anything specially bad—they are simply a negative force, they are opposed to anything that is for progress, because progress is positive.

You take this class and they can live a whole lifetime in the same surroundings, under the same circumstances and the same conditions. They are satisfied to drift along in the old way. William Randolph Hearst says if some radical, progressive monkey had not, ages agone, attempted to walk upright in defiance of their conservatism, they would still be hanging by their tails to tree limbs.

This class is found in every community. I don't know why it should be so, unless it is to strengthen those who would do something and to teach them forbearance and patience.

Jesus of Nazareth and His followers encountered it two thousand years ago, and they crucified Him because He wanted the world to progress and tried to show the people of His time a better way. While this class has grown less in number and not quite so bloodthirsty, yet their thought is just the same as their forefathers'. They are satisfied with the conditions into which they are born and resent any attempt to take them out of those conditions.

This is evidenced by the present opposition to the proposed water bond issue. Time and again have those opposed to the bond issue been asked to give a reason for their opposition, but no one has been able to give such a reason. The only attempted reason is based on either woeful ignorance, rank prejudice or spiteful animosity.

A recent circular issued by those opposed to the bond issue is a weak attempt to answer the arguments and reasons advanced by the Civic Club why such bonds should be voted.

Here is a sample of the arguments offered an intelligent community:

> We understand from one of the members of the Tropico Civic Club that he believes that said Civic Club was organized as a promotion committee for the sale of the Tropico Water Co.

The writer of this may have received such "an understanding." There is no accounting what impressions such minds may receive. But a statement could not possibly be wider of the truth. The Civic Club was organized and is maintained for the upbuilding of ALL OF TROPICO. It is run by no man nor clique. Its actions are and have ever been open to all. There is not, nor never has been, any attempt to boost or foster any pet scheme. By word of mouth, by letter and by printed invitation the Club has extended time and time again an invitation for all to join its ranks. Have they received members from the mossbacks? Not much. It costs a dollar to join and four dollars a year in dues, and this money is expended in an effort to promote the welfare of all Tropico. This sum is too colossal for such people. To their way of looking at things, such an expenditure would be wasteful. It would be putting out a dollar without having a tail-hold and down-hill pull on four—it would be taking desperate chances. It would be doing something out of the ordinary. Such action would be too radical, too revolutionary for their dear, conservative minds to follow.

Here is another one of their arguments:

> The price of water in Los Angeles is now 65c per 1,000 cubic feet, 8,000 gallons, and they expect to reduce it to 50c soon.

They don't tell you the price of water in Hollywood, an annexed part of Los Angeles. Ask them for that price.

Here is another:

> Vote against Water Bonds for a dilapidated system already ours.

If the system is ours, why pay a private company water rent each month? Refuse to pay your water rent and find out how much of it is "ours."

But why go on? All the statements made are on a parity with those referred to—statements made without investigation, based on ancient personal prejudices and misinformation.

If the bonds carry Tropico will have made a good investment and have taken a long step forward. If they are defeated it simply means that a step backward has been taken, but the sun will continue to shine and the ocean roll on. The forces that work for progress and advancement will be discouraged. Tropico will halt for a time in its onward march. Then those who DO things will rally, take new courage and carry on the work, for, thank goodness, the law of progress is the law of nature, and while well-meaning, ultra-conservative people may retard, they cannot stop the onward march, and Tropico's nail-keg-warming brigade is growing less and less.

SCHOOL NOTES.

The custom of awarding honor pins was begun last year. There was a general feeling among the students and faculty that some outward mark of distinction should be given these students who by their high standing upheld the scholarship of the school. A bronze pin therefore was adopted as an honor pin to distinguish scholarship as the big "G" marked excellence in athletics.

The design of the pin is in form of the school seal with design of the open book and Greek lamp. For each year of high scholarship a star is engraved in the book. The average demanded is 92% or above. Any student maintaining this average for four years receives a gold pin in the same design as the bronze.

The following students have won honor pins for the last year's work:

Twelfth Year.

DOING GOOD WORK

Monday night was a big night with Visor Lodge, Knights of Pythias. The Knight rank was conferred on Esquires William B. Carpenter, John J. Lawlor, E. C. Leech and Samuel Rich.

Ralph Robinson reported the condition of a couple living near Burbank; the husban an invalid and the wife, a frail little woman, taking in washing for a living. Robinson said that she had some turkeys she wanted to sell for Thanksgiving and it was decided by the lodge that as many as possible would spend Sunday morning in a turkey shoot, the proceeds to go to the couple. A committee was appointed to look after the details. During the evening several chances were purchased, and it is needless to say that the turkeys will bring fancy prices.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB.

Next Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 25, under the auspices of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, Mrs. Willoughby B. Rodman will give her lecture, "Woman as a Factor in the Scheme of Things." This lecture has been given to appreciative audiences at the Friday Morning and Ebell Clubs in the city as well as to many of the leading clubs throughout the country. The lecture will be given in Butler's Hall and will be an open meeting and guests will be welcomed by the ladies of the Tuesday Afternoon Club.

Thursday, the 20th, Mrs. Abramson, district chairman of the Music Section of Federated Clubs will give a lecture recital at the residence of Mrs. John Robert White, Jr., First and Orange. Each member is entitled to bring one guest.

ALMOST A BALL GAME

The K of P's and the Tropico Grays Fight It Out

The sturdy K. of P. team of Visor Lodge 293, Tropico, took it into their heads to play the Tropico Regulars. Now, gentle reader, just think of it, trying to beat Tropico. Frank Davis, one of the K. P. fans, was sure his team would win and was warned against it, but you know how stubborn Frank is. Tropico went to bat first, but good support on the K. P. side kept Tropico from scoring. Then hurrah for Jennings. He made the first run and then of course they thought they had the game right there, but Tropico took that notion out of their heads when they pulled off two runs in the fifth.

Now we will tell you how Swift Moniot played. He couldn't get it through his head why his hat wasn't as good as the ball. He would stand and look first at the ball and then at his hat, but he always managed to get the ball in the infield at least five minutes after the runner got home, but Swift has a good chance to be a ball played ten years from now.

Now for Harry MacAdams: Sure he was in the game. Played third base for nine whole innings. The only trouble with Harry was that he couldn't quite locate the ball when it was in the air, but he said if he had known it was up there he sure would have caught it. You can't very well bawl Harry out because he made one run.

Now believe me, Claude Disney is some pitcher. Of course it is understood he won the game for Tropico, but we have got to say a little something about his support. The support was fine with the exception of Sam Rich. He missed every ball that came his way. Carpenter don't need

Thanksgiving

The word Thanksgiving always brings to mind "eats." All you have to do is shut your eyes and you're at the table, mother's, grandmother's, or, in fact, any table, and you can see the turkey, done to a crisp; mashed potatoes, three or four vegetables, bread and butter and the ever-present cranberry sauce; then you finish off with fruit cake, layer cake and just cake, pumpkin pie, apple pie, mince pie and just pie; nuts, raisins, fruit, etc.; then you have popcorn; roast apples and chestnuts in the evening. After all this you are thankful that Thanksgiving doesn't come every day; but thankful that you were able to partake of the goodies prepared.

PEOPLE'S ORCHESTRA PROGRAM.

An excellent concert was given by the People's Orchestra and People's Chorus at Temple Auditorium Sunday. The Tannhauser Overture by Wagner opened the program and was partly repeated as an encore. Mr. Vernon Spencer, who gave an excellent rendition of Rubenstein's Concerto, D Minor, also responded to hearty applause with an encore.

The Barcarolle from "Tales of Hoffman," with Alta Scazinghini Smith and Cora Cross singing the leading parts, assisted by the chorus and accompanied by the orchestra, was likewise repeated. The Suite in four movements, "From My Youth," by Mortimer Robinson and A. L. Watson.

A detachment of the Uniform Rank men were out from the city, as well as a number of visitors from Glendale, Roscoe and Burbank. All together probably there were a hundred Knights in attendance.

After the work of the evening a little lunch was served by the committee, consisting of Knights Ripley, Ledger and Laird. Mr. Frank Davis acted as toastmaster in his usual happy style and called on different knights to tell a story or speak a piece. It was decided that Watson and Wattles tied as to oratory.

At a late hour the "feast" broke up and all departed declaring that Visor Lodge No. 293 was the "livest wire" in Pythian ranks in Southern California.

The lodge will hold its usual social evening next Monday evening, at which time all the knights and their friends, their sweethearts, and their wives, are expected to be present. A special effort will be made ta entertain the kiddies. Several prizes will be drawn for during the evening.

The Pythian Sisters will give a chicken supper Thursday evening in Castle Hall from 5 to 8 o'clock.

Consulting Engineer E. A. Bayley has submitted his report to the Water Committee of Glendale, and estimates that it will cost that city $298,414.56 to install a new distributing system. This shows what Tropico would be up against if it undertook to install a complete, new system. We had better wear the old suit a little longer, even if it does not look quite so stylish.

As a matter of fact, the Tropico Water Company is worth, at a reasonable valuation, from $60,000 to $70,000, and instead of the price being high, it is exceptionally low, and I am firmly convinced that Tropico will make a mistake if it defeats this bond issue. Every man has a right to his own opinion, and when that opinion is honest he is entitled to the consideration and respect of his fellowmen, but when he allows personal jealousies, petty spite and old grouches to persuade him to do that which down deep in his heart he knows is wrong, does not, to say the least, measure up to the full stature of a real man.

The Sentinel is one of the best weekly papers in Southern California and you know it. The Sentinel is all the time telling some good thing about Tropico and the people living therein. It ever preaches a religion of optimism, hope and good will towards all. It is outspoken and advocates what it believes to be for the best interest of the community, but it does not accuse those who differ with it of being dishonest and knaves. That there is not another thing in Tropico doing as much for the welfare of the community as is the Sentinel is known by you to be true. This being so, do you not think it would be fair to boost for the Sentinel and push it along; subscribe for it and send it to people living in sections less favored than this. The Sentinel is not perfect, nor is as good a paper as can be made, but it is the best paper in California when the size of the town is considered. Stop and think for a moment and you will recognize that this assertion is true. Then why shouldn't you be proud of your town and your paper? We have the best town, the best paper, and as a whole the best people in California. Let us tell others this, that they, too, may know.

Some people state that they are opposed to the water bond issue because it is proposed to pay Mr. Brand, or the Tropico Water Company, $50,000 for the rights, title and property of the Tropico Water Company, and that this property did not cost Mr. Brand but about $25,000. Personally I do not think this phase of the question has any bearing on the matter. The vital question at issue is: Whether or not the plant is worth to Tropico the sum asked. But for the benefit of those who are hesitating to vote for the bonds, or are opposed to them on the ground that Mr. Brand is making $20,000 or $25,000 clear money off the sale, it may be stated that Mr. Brand originally loaned $24,000 on the Tropico plant, and then after expending between $5,000 and $6,000 the Tropico plant was purchased by the Consolidated Water Company, and a second mortgage given by the Consolidated Water Co. on the Consolidated plant for $550,000. Mr. Brand has agreed to pay all money received in excess of the sum actually loaned to and spent on the Tropico plant to the original bond holders, of which it is understood a number live in Tropico and vicinity.

You like Tropico and believe in it, or you would not be here. You believe that it is a nice place to live; that it has advantages; that it has a future and that by staying here you can better your condition. If this was not so you would not be here. We all believe in Tropico, but the great question is, what are we doing to help Tropico? No town will care for itself. It takes work to build and improve any place. Are you doing your share, or are you objecting to everything and being a burden instead of an assistance? There is not one man in a hundred thousand that really wants to be a grouch, a hold-back and a kicker, but unfortunately we are so constituted that unless we watch ourselves we grow into a disgruntled attitude when we really do not mean to. Certain people will forge to the front and become prominent in working for the town; we are left out and are not consulted as much as we think we should be; our egotism gets "peeved" and immediately we begin to think everything is going to the demnition bow-wows and we kick and talk and snarl and object and find some excuse to fight every movement that is started. Before you vote tomorrow take yourself off around behind the house and have a little quiet meditation and see if you are not carrying a little peeve that is influencing you, to do that which deep down in your heart you know is not for the best interests of Tropico.

POINTS A LESSON.

Considerable interest is being taken in the affairs and development of the Los Angeles Investment Company, and it is reasonable that it should be, because the Los Angeles Investment Company is one of the larger business concerns of Southern Calfiornia. It is not my purpose to undertake to make any observation on the whys and wherefores, but I do wish to call attention to one phase of the matter.

It is very probable that the majority of the people of Los Angeles would have referred to Mr. Elder six months ago as a shining mark and a pronounced success. Today very few would refer to him as being a successful man. Why? Because, unfortunately, in all of us to a more or less extent in this day and age, is the disposition to look up to and respect men who acquire money, and never question the manner in which they obetain it. As to whether or not Mr. Elder and his associates are guilty of violating the laws of the land the courts alone must say, but there can be no doubt but what they have done some things that they should not have done, and they have resorted to tactics questionably bad enough to justify a grand jury in returning indictments against the officers and directors of the company.

If we could only see and realize that success does not consist of amassing a fortune we would do much to eliminate such cases from the business world. Fortunately there is an ever-increasing number of people who are beginning to see that success does not consist in piling up money, and as these increase the world will grow better.

Some day success will be measured by the good one does and the benefit that one's life has been to his fellow men, and those who truly love their fellow men are working to hasten this day.

Parents love their children and lavish much affection and kindness on them. They could do them a much greater kindness by striving to overcome the greed in their own conscience, thereby overcoming the greed of the world.

THE HAGUE

Special to the Sentinel by E. R.

This city is now widely known because it is here that the world peace conferences are held, is the residence of the queen of Holland. It was originally a hunting resort of the counts of Holland, whence its Dutch name, "den Haag," i. e., "the counts' enclosure," or "hedge." The crowds on the streets are very cosmopolitan and are mostly people of means. There is little to signify that one is amongst the Dutch except for the spelling of the signs and the canals now and then. Many of the streets are broad, straight and well shaded, and the houses are large and substantial.

The Peace Palace has just been completed and will be open to the public for inspection in a week or so. Those who have viewed the interior say it is grand and all so in harmony, even though the work is a collection of gifts from all the nations. So far we have only been able to see the outside, which is imposing in keeping with the other Dutch buildings in The Hague, being made of gray sandstone and red brick.

We had an enjoyable walk in the "Haagsche Bosch," a park-like forest, in which the "Huisten Bosch" (the House in the Woods), the royal villa is situated. It was in the Orange Saloon of this mansion that the first International Peace Conference was held in 1899, when twenty-nine Powers were represented. As the royal family was in residence we knew we would not be admitted to view the interior, but we were fortunate in other ways. As we approached the palace we noticed that there was an expectant crowd gathered who were watching the front door very closely so we waited, too. Soon we were delighted by seeing the Queen Wilhelmina, the Prince Consort, the Queen-mother and the little Princess Juliana out on the porch bidding farewell to a number of high and mighty guests. The men were all decked out with a great amount of gold braid and medals and the women were very handsomely gowned. The Queen was very simply dressed in white silk and the little four-year-old Princess hopped around bidding farewell in a pleasing and childlike manner.

Aside from the Peace Palace and Royalty we had another treat of a far different nature at The Hague. We attended Wilhelm Hagenbeck's trained animal show and we certainly saw some wonderful sights that I thought could be pictured on advertising posters but never actually shown. There before us in the large cage were seven huge lions, and the trained, with the spoken orders and the crack of his whip, made them keep in order and perform their respective "stunts," which consisted mostly of fancy poses on boxes. Then there were the tigers jumping the paper wheels, the bears being able to skate and ride bicycles, the elephants which showed so much intelligence, besides the ordinary circus feats of monkeys, horses and dogs and men. Although we missed the usual popcorn and peanuts and pink lemonade (these things have never been discovered in nor imported to this continent as far as I have been able to detect) we had a most interesting performance and I did so wish that all my little friends might have been with me to also enjoy this wonderful exhibition of Hagenbeck's wild animals.

IT WAS NEWS TO EAGLE ROCK.

THE morning papers of Los Angeles on Tuesday brought us information that Eagle Rock "knocked at the city's gate for admission yesterday and the annexation commission listened to her qualifications, hopes and desires." So said the Times. This was news to the residents of this city. The city of Eagle Rock did not "knock" figuratively or otherwise. The trouble seems to be that the powers that be in Los Angeles have become so desperate in their desire to sell aqueduct water and also secure help in paying their many millions of bonded indebtedness that they can hear almost anything. And even the newspaper reporters have gotten so anxious for a "scoop" that they are liable to mistake a call for two beers to mean a "knock" for aqueduct water.

The fact is there were just three Eagle Rock citizens present at the meeting—E. E. Chandler, Garner Curran and W. E. Bruce. They did not represent the city government, the Chamber of Commerce or any other organization, and they made no claim of doing so. They attended because they wanted to personally learn what advantages, if any, the committee had to offer.

This question of annexation as a condition precedent to securing aqueduct water is a large and complicated one and involves many points of local importance. This city is in such a position that haste is not only not necessary but would be unwise.

The engineering department of the aqueduct anticipated a supply of 18,000 inches, and now it is estimated at 24,000. And not a drop has yet been sold. Furthermore, not a single incorporated city has made any move to annex to Los Angeles on the terms now proposed. And some of them need water worse than Eagle Rock.—Eagle Rock Sentinel.

GERMS.

Editor The Sentinel:

I believe that a few hundred years ago there were as many germs as there are at the present time. There's no good reason for thinking otherwise, yet many people lived and some even to a ripe old age (as witness Methuselah) and have left a numerous posterity behind. Later on some genius invented the microscope. Then scientists began with its use to try to find the cause of diseases. By magnifying objects greatly they found in some of the minute objects of our food many living organisms, some so small that a million of them could rest on the point of a needle (a blunt pointed one, I suppose). I don't know that they ever really counted them. Horrors! And all down the ages our ancesters had been gulping down and chewing up millions of bacteria and germs, many of them deadly, the deadliness perhaps in proportion to the amount of fear that might be inspired in the person partaking thereof.

However, on the principle that what one doesn't know don't hurt them, many have survived.

Therefore now we have diphtheria germs, typhoid cultures, smallpox bacillus, yellow fever microbes, etc., etc.

Therefore now we have health boards to look after us, who see death and destruction in every pile of refuse and malaria floating from eevry stagnant puddle. We have also Pure Food laws and sanitary regulations so strict that it is almost impossible for one to get sick. It seems as if the word sanitary was almost woked overtime.

I have been informed that they have evolved a sanitary tombstone that is so perfect in its operation that if properly set up over your grave you will never get sick any more! Great are the discoveries of science. Some months ago an exhibition was given to the school children of Los Angeles of germs, etc., magnified until they seemed as large as grasshoppers, and which threw a good-sized scare into the children and possibly some of the older ones, but the operators forgot to magnify the children to the same proportion, which would have made them seem as large as Mt. Lowe and Old Baldy combined, and would have made the germs seem like small potatoes in the Salt Lake Basin.

Yours sparingly,
G. Washington Bledsoe.

According to G. Harold Powell, general manager of the California Fruit Growers' Association, there will be shipped out of California this season over 40,000 cars of citrus fruit.

Connie Mack has been trying some time to get them signed up, but Chas. Hapgood don't see how he can let them go. The score was Tropico 6, K. P. 5.

ALL HAD A GOOD TIME.

On Monday evening, Nov. 10, a very delightful "at home" was given by Mrs. H. Boring and Miss M. Rickman at the home of Mrs. Boring, 211 Blanche avenue.

The house was tastefully decorated with a profusion of chrysanthemums. The eighty guests present were entertained with several well-rendered musical numbers, also a reading given by Mrs. Timothy, entitled "Mammy's Little Baby Boy," which was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

The musical numbers were made up as follows: Miss Helene Morgan, pianist; Master Eugene Boring, violinist; Mr. J. J. Burke, cornetist; Mrs. Felix Modjeska, who is a granddaughter of Mme. Modjeska, rendered two very delightful solos.

The program was concluded with "The Holy City," which was very impressively played by Mr. Burke on the cornet, accompanied by Miss Morgan, after which refreshments of chocolate sundae, cakes and coffee were served.

The Southern Pacific Railway Company spends over $14,000,000 for material each year. During the last few years efforts have been made to economize on this purchasing of supplies as much as possible, and one of the greatest sources of saving has been in utilizing what once was considered as "old junk." It is stated that last year the company saved over $12,000 from old locomotive boiler tubes which, until the last year or two, were supposed to be absolutely worthless.

Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Thornton, of Central and Riverdale, gave a party in honor of the Army and Navy football squad at their home last Saturday evening. The rugs were up in the parlor and sitting room so that the guests might dance. The music was furnished by Imes orchestra of Los Angeles. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Borne, Mrs. Dora L. Gibson, Mrs. Pulliam, and the Misses Alpha Clement, Ruth Browne, Dorothy Hobbs, Barbara Mitchell, Rae Davis, Katherine and Harriet Wells, Lillian Leppelman, George Moreland, and Frae Morse; and Messrs. Thomas Thornton, Jr., James Gibson, George Mitchell, Ralph Borne, Charles Wells, Vernon Snively, Hosea Brown, Fred Farner, Sidney Simons, Don Packer, L. Leppelman and Pulliam.

Mrs. Samuel A. Pollock entertained with a luncheon at her home on West Park avenue, Friday, complimentary to Miss Clara Holland of Los Angeles, assistant department inspector of the Woman's Relief Corps. A bowl of wellow chrysanthemums graced the center of the table. Seated with Mrs. Pollock and Mrs. Holland were Mrs. Delia Hapgood, past corps president; Mrs. Gertrude Griffin, corps secretary, and Mrs. Susie Peck, corps treasurer. Following the luncheon, Mrs. Pollock, who is president of N. P. Banks Corps, and her guests assembled at G. A. R. hall, where the annual inspection of the corps was conducted by Mrs. Pollock under the supervision of Mrs. Holland. The exemplification of the ritual received not only the highest praise, but the president, Mrs. Pollock, was pronounced the most proficient of this department visited by Mrs. Ella Van Horn, past department president of California and Nevada.

Sunday morning a jolly party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Hedges, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Milliganfi Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Tresslar, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Tauxe, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Maynard, Mrs. O. M. Carpenter and Miss Alice Carpenter, all of Tropico, and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Messenger, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Theo Hersberger, Mrs. and Miss Allen of Los Angeles left for Seal Beach with loaded baskets and healthy appetites. Claude and Hearn Robinson loaded up as much of the Robinson Bros. grocery store as they could get in an automobile and joined the crowd just a few minutes after 12, and from the warmth of the welcome they received one would have thought they were two of the most popular young men in California, but when it was explained that they had practically all the baskets and boxes, loaded with good things to eat, the reason for their popularity was seen. A fire was built in the beach sand and two big buckets of coffee were made. Mr. Tresslar took several pictures of the crowd, but he says the kindness of his heart prevents him from making these pictures public. The only thing that marred the pleasure of the day

T. H. Addison, 316 Belmont street, has been awarded a contract at $10,800 for the construction of the Carnegie library building at Glendale. This contract is exclusive of painting and furnace for which bids will be taken later. The building will be 36x70 feet, with pressed brick facing, composition room, tile loggia, and artificial stone cornice. It will contain reading rooms, offices, and large lobby. Paul V. Tuttle, 619 Delta building, drew the plans.

Dr. Chas. C. Curtis, of 1008½ West Broadway, has an office that would be a credit to Los Angeles. Dr. Curtis was located in Los Angeles for several years, but owing to the fact that Glendale offered better facilities for the successful treatment of patients he opened an office in Glendale about two years ago. Since that time he has met with much success. His office is equipped with the latest was the sleepiness of Mrs. Carpenter.

PARENT - TEACHER CONCERT.

The concert of Helen Beatrice Cooper given under the auspices of the Parent-Teachers' Association of Tropico last Friday evening at the Glendale Union High School, was an artistic success. The stage was beautifully decorated with chrysanthemums, great big beautiful ones. At the back of the stage was a hedge of yellow chrysanthemums, which made a very effective background for Miss Cooper's dress. Every one loves the old ballads, and the audience became more and more enthusiastic as "the Last Rose of Summer," "Coming Through the Rye," "Annie Laurie," and the others were given until "Listen to the Mocking-Bird," was sung. A surprise awaited the audience, the clear shrill notes of the mocking-bird were whistled from the wings by Mr. Elmer Rudeen of Pasadena. Mr. Rudeen proved himself an artist, when, after his solo he gave imitations of the different birds, even to catching the little chicken.

Mrs. Helen De Garton proved an able and sympathetic accompanist. Miss Cooper's beautiful voice showed to better advantage in the Rosary by Nevin than in other songs, and the comparison of rag time with the old favorites was very effective.

The historical notes with each song were pleasing and instructive, all were enthusiastic in desiring the program repeated at some future date.

This the Parent-Teacher Association have arranged for and will repeat the program in January. The following program was given:

PART I.

English—a. Drink to Me Only. b. The Lass With the Delicate Air.
Irish—a. The Low-backed Car. b. The Last Rose of Summer.
Scottish—a. Comin' Through the Rye. b. Annie Laurie.

PART II.

LATEST IN THE STREET CAR EXTENSION.

Monday morning work was commenced by the Pacific Electric on Broadway, in Glendale, which is the first step in constructing the new railroad in the eastern part of the city. Beginning work at Brand Boulevard, they expect to extend to Everett, where a passenger and light freight building will be erected. According to the present understanding, work will start on the south end of Cypress street, and from Cypress street will run to Glendale, then north on Glendale to Adams and make connection with the line out Broadway, thus forming a complete loop on which cars are to run each way.

More than $1,000,000 has been expended by the citrus fruit men of California in smudge pots this year. They want to provide against a repetition of last winter's freeze.
